Dear Ken:

This organization would like to supply a scholarship or two for the Summer Seminar of ANA. We believe the travel expense to Colorado Springs should be arranged by the participant. We will be glad to cooperate after hearing your thoughts as to the foregoing.

Sincerely,

Eric P. Newman

Dear Eric,

We're up-dating the Young Numismatist Correspondence Course and wonder if you might be willing to revise the Chapter No. 8 you wrote on Early American Money. If so I would appreciate hearing from you and we can go from there. Perhaps your chapter doesn't need revising.

If you can't revise it, please let me know anyway, and we can try to get some help. If this is so, who might you suggest to help?

Hope all is well with you.

Sincerely,

Ken

Dear Ken:

I will be glad to revise that instruction manual. What I think would be helpful is that you or someone else make suggestions as to improvements so that I can have other thinking than my own.

My very kindest personal regards to you.

Sincerely,

Eric P. Newman

Subject: Revision of Young Numismatist Correspondence Course

This letter for original authors as well as substitute authors.

First of all, please accept my apology for addressing you in this form of letter. I had hoped to write each one a personal note, but with things being the way they are, I'll get something out to you not faster this way, and I think we need to get going.

I've been waiting for some information, and now it is here, so we can start.

I'm sending each of you who have volunteered a chapter to revise. You can virtually entirely re-write it if you wish. There are several volunteers. For those who are faster, or whatever, and you finish a chapter, I'll send you another.....if you wish it and request it. ~~And if you finish a second chapter, then possibly a third.~~ We have several volunteers, so there could be a situation work out that each could do two chapters. However, remembering what it is, some may not finish their chapters, some will do only one, and some might end up doing two or three. We'll see how it goes.

If you don't feel comfortable with the chapter I send you, let me know and perhaps we can send you another. Some have already requested a certain chapter and that is being honored.

I would like to have you send me your completed chapter by May 20, 1984. If you can finish sooner, all the better ~~and we can get you a second chapter.~~

Please suggest pictures to go with your chapters where possible. The ANA has an extensive photo file, and we can get most from it, but if you have a photo or photos that are particularly appropriate (black & white glossy) please let us borrow it (them). Thanks.

Please prepare questions (and furnish the answers) for your chapter in the following format: questions 1 thru 10 - true & false, questions 11 thru 15 - single word fill-in answers, questions 16 thru 20 - multiple choice with three or four choices.

You will be given credit for writing the chapter, or co-credit for revising it. Please furnish a brief biography of yourself (family locally). The chapter length can be about the same or expanded up to four or five pages so that the chapter comes out in a multiple of 4 pages. Remember, pictures can be used effectively as fillers. If any questions, let me know. Sincerely,

Ken (over)

Dear Eric.

Thanks for your prompt reply. I've made a few notes on (in) the enclosed chapter. I believe it could be expanded 2 or 3 pages, perhaps more. Additional key pictures would help. Other than that, your chapter was excellent. Feel free to add new information or change in any way you wish. Any up-dated biographical info would be helpful.

If you have any questions, I'd be glad to help in any way I can.

Sincerely,
Ker

Dear Mr. Hall:

You are my new hope in solving a numismatic color printing problem. I have been working on the problem for years with no results.

Your article in the Bank Note Reporter for April 2000 was refreshing and exciting, so since you asked for questions, here goes.

The issue of bills of credit of Pennsylvania for October 1, 1773 are printed in red and black on the face with some letters of the central text printed in black, some letters all in red and some letters partly in red and partly in black. There is perfect registration on all bills. Red and black were ordinarily not printed simultaneously at that time. The loose pieces of type were set and locked in a frame. If the different colors had separate locations or could be overprinted the procedure is simple. There are certain letters locked in place with two colors perfectly coordinated. Some kind of stencil was used to print the colors simultaneously and separately. I cannot figure out how it was done. Neither have others I have asked.

If you have never seen the pieces I will send you examples for study.

The January, 1779 Continental Currency issue shows designs with separate sections cut out for two color printing and is a remarkable undertaking. Whether this was two separate impressions or not I do not know.

I hope I have intrigued you even though you are a chemist primarily, but I am sure you have studied early printing extensively.

I look forward to your thoughts. My telephone is [REDACTED] and my fax is [REDACTED]

Sincerely,

Eric P. Newman

Thank you for telephoning me in response to my April 10, 2000 letter to you. In accordance with your request I am enclosing four Georgia bills, four Pennsylvania bills and one photocopy of an item as detailed in the accompanying memo. I hope these will be helpful in your study and I look forward to your report. There is no panic in returning them.

Please let me know if you feel you need additional pieces for your study.

It is a fascinating subject.

Sincerely,

Eric P. Newman

Just checking to see if you received the colonial notes from us. If you need them for a future period just send us a memo acknowledging the loan.
